In this course we will look at kabbalah and astrology from a collective and personal viewpoint. Like individuals, nations have horoscopes and a fate and a destiny.

Sometimes a remarkable person can lead a people into prosperity or disaster as free will is a major factor.

The first premise to be accepted is that the universe is not a chaos but governed by a set of laws. While everything appears to be in motion and, at times, seems disordered and disjointed, in fact Existence is a very precisely organized entity.

An understanding of the regulation and aim of Existence is the purpose of the pursuit of knowledge. The Tree of Life is an archetypal model of all that is to come into Existence. This metaphysical diagram is the figure we will use to integrate the disciplines of astrology and psychology with Kabbalah.

*While the Tree appears to be rigid it is in fact extremely flexible, as the Sefirot paths and triads interact like the celestial bodies, the earth, nature and humanity.

Participants are invited to bring their own birth charts.
